For more than 80 years, Landsec has shaped places that stand the test of time. Rebuilding places damaged by war, transforming urban areas into thriving community hubs, and enhancing quality of life for the people who live, work in or visit our UK-wide places. Our business might've started in London, but over the course of 80 years our impact has grown significantly across the UK and here in both the East and South East.

We serve communities from Oxfordshire to Essex, and Sussex to Kent – from some of the region's most sought-after retail-led destinations that attract millions of visitors each year, to places that form part of local high streets.

In this region, our business contributed £719m to the UK's economy in 2025, with places like Bluewater, Gunwharf Quays and Westgate playing a pivotal role in day and nighttime visitor spend. We've also delivered nearly £5m of social value in 2025 alone, and supported 728 people towards work as part of our Landsec Futures social impact fund.

As Landsec continues to deliver sustainable income growth as a business, we'll keep creating opportunities for people to access employment, develop skills, and build careers in real estate and beyond.'
